

University Archives and Special Collections (UASC)

The University Archives includes:

- The University Archives contain materials relating to the University of Prince Edward Island and its two predecessors: Prince of Wales College (PWC) and St. Dunstan's University (SDU).
- It includes yearbooks, class pictures, calendars, newspapers and newsletters, newspaper clippings, faculty publications, audiocassettes, videocassettes, and vertical file items.
- The University Archives also contain records donated from the public. Please see the list of fonds/collections on the main UASC webpage.

Making requests for materials:

- Requests for University Archives materials must be directed to Library staff, either in UASC or at the main Library Service Desk.
- University Archives material may only be used within the Library, and photocopying and/or viewing restrictions may apply to especially valuable and/or fragile items.

Where to find it:

- Many publications relating connected to UPEI, PWC, and SDU are searchable in the Library's online catalogue: the location SPEC-ARCH identifies items shelved in the University Archives.
- The University Archives is housed, along with the PEI Collection and a collection of rare books, in the climate-controlled University Archives and Special Collections (UASC) area on the main level of the Robertson Library.
